

Fiscal celebrates a decade of growth

Fiscal Engineers directors (from left) Ian Roger, Gini Bolton, Shane Mullins, Roger Summerton

Fiscal Engineers, the boutique wealth management firm based in Nottingham, has celebrated its tenth anniversary with an event for clients at Nottingham Castle.

Guests were treated to a talk by Cliff Hardy, the keeper of fine art at Nottingham Castle as well as music from Pollyanna Strings, a classical quartet, whilst enjoying a glass or two of fine wine and canapés.

Founder and managing director Shane Mullins described the growth of the business over the years and its plans for enhancing the service they provide.

Fiscal Engineers specialises in providing wealth management services to private clients and trustees across the Midlands who have at least £1m to invest or manage. The firm is committed to providing the very best service and advice for clients, setting the standard for the sector in terms of quality and innovation.

Recognising that every client is different, the firm creates a bespoke plan and implementation framework for each to bring clarity to what their wealth means, not only for themselves but future generations. The firm places emphasis on wealth preservation rather than accumulation and on long-term strategic not just short-term tactical issues.

"The business has gone from strength to strength and we have established ourselves as a flexible and trusted advisor to a select client base," Said Mr Mullins. "Our expert staff have developed strong and loyal working relationships with clients and it was really important to us that we celebrate our tenth anniversary with them."